Return profile at maturity

This graph illustrates how the Note's variable return at maturity is affected by the reference portfolio return at maturity. It depicts the relationship between the reference portfolio return, the 2nd step return threshold and a hypothetical 1st step and 2nd step participation rate.

How does it work?

- Reference portfolio return is negative.
The client is entitled to receive its principal back at maturity thanks to 100% principal protection feature. No variable return will be paid at maturity under the negative reference portfolio return scenario.
- Reference portfolio return is positive and below the 2nd step return threshold.
Notes' variable return matches the 1st step return (reference portfolio return multiplied by the 1st step participation rate)
- Reference portfolio return is positive and above the 2nd step return threshold.
Notes' variable return equals the capped 1st step return (the product of the 1st step participation rate and the 2nd step return threshold) plus any additional return on the reference portfolio, subject to the 2nd step participation rate.

The reference portfolio

The reference portfolio is made up of common shares issued by 20 companies from different countries and from various sectors, as set out below. The companies included in the portfolio undergo both a financial analysis and an ESG screening further to which the following ESG strategies are implemented:

- Exclusion of companies that operate in the tobacco, fossil fuel, nuclear or arms industries.
- Evaluation of environmental, social and governance (ESG) practices with the aim to identify the companies that adopt the best approaches regarding priority issues of their industry, are not involved in any controversies deemed severe and favour companies with positive ESG momentum.

The reference portfolio return will not take into account any dividends and/or distributions and does not reflect fluctuations in exchange rates of foreign currencies. The dividend yield of the reference portfolio as at April 30, 2025 was 3.09%.

Calculating the total payment at maturity

Subject to the occurrence of certain special circumstances, an investor will receive, for each note held at maturity, (i) the principal amount and (ii) a variable return, if any, based on the price return of a portfolio of equally weighted securities (the "portfolio").

Calculating the variable return

- The variable return, if any, will be calculated by the calculation agent on the final valuation date in accordance with the following formula:
 If the portfolio return is positive but lower than the second-step return threshold, the variable return will be equal to:
 $[\text{Principal amount}] \times [\text{first-step return}]$
 If the portfolio return is equal to or higher than the second-step return threshold, the variable return will be equal to:
 $[\text{Principal amount}] \times [\text{capped first-step return} + \text{second-step return}]$
 The variable return does not reflect fluctuations in exchange rates of foreign currencies
- The first-step return means a percentage equal to:
 $[\text{First-step participation rate}] \times [\text{reference portfolio return}]$
- The second-step return means a percentage calculated as follows:
 $[\text{Second-step participation rate}] \times [\text{reference portfolio return} - \text{second-step return threshold}]$
- The reference portfolio return means the weighted average return of the reference assets comprising the reference portfolio
- The reference asset return means the percentage change of:
 $[\text{Closing price} - \text{initial price}] / \text{divided by initial price}$

Secondary market

The notes will not be listed on any stock exchange.

Desjardins Securities Inc. intends to maintain, under normal market conditions, a daily secondary market for the notes, but is under no obligation to facilitate or arrange a secondary market, and in its sole discretion, may stop maintaining a market for the notes at any time, without any prior notice.

To the extent that an available secondary market does exist, an investor may be able to sell a note, in whole or in part, subject to an early trading fee. An investor who sells a note prior to the maturity date will receive sales proceeds (which may be less than the principal amount of the notes and less than the variable return that would otherwise be payable if the notes were maturing at such time) equal to the bid price for the note posted through Fundserv.

Selling agent's commission

The Fédération will pay to the selling agent a selling commission equal to $1.50 for each note sold (equivalent to 1.50% of the principal amount).

Early trading fees

An early trading fee will apply to secondary market redemption orders of the notes made through the Fundserv network within 180 days of the purchase date. These fees will be based on a percentage of the principal amount as follows:

| If sold within (days) | 1 to 30 (%) | 31 to 60 (%) | 61 to 90 (%) | 91 to 120 (%) | 121 to 150 (%) | 151 to 180 (%) | Thereafter |
|---------------------------|-------------|--------------|--------------|---------------|----------------|----------------|------------|
| Early trading fees | 2.25 | 2.00 | 1.75 | 1.50 | 1.25 | 1.00 | Nil |
